HIGHLIGHTS OF SELECTED MATERIAL FROM THE REFERENCE COLLECTION

Some interesting questions we've answered this month:

Are all ITC and Tariff Commission publications indexed on OCLC by principal author and/or investigator?

Can you give me the production of phenol for various years.

Can you give me the titles of some important foreign trade publications?

Can you provide us with a list of publications written by Gottfield Haberter?

Can you provide calendars for 1988 through 1990?

Can you tell me how each Tariff Commissioner and each ITC Commissioner voted on every case?

Do you have a list of the writings of Chairwomen Stern?

Do you have an index to old Treasury Department Decisions?

Do you have exchange rates for various countries on an Historical Basis?

Do you have rules of the European Free Trade Association? Do you have Stockholm Convention Articles of EFTA? Where can we purchase publications?

Do you have historical data for consumer pricing, wholesale pricing, and foreign exchange rates for Singapore, Hong Kong, and the Republic of China (Taiwan)?

Do you have Webster's Third New International Dictionary of the English Language, Unabridged? This was the dictionary used when the first Tariff Schedules of the United States were designed.

Does Commerce publish import statistics by TSUSA number?

Who has complaints before GATT and how have disputes been settled?

Was Gordon Thomas ever a Commissioner in this Agency?

Can you obtain promotional materials from companies producing mailing lists by SIC CODE, Company Size, and other variables?

Please provide me with the address and telephone number of the German Society for Foreign Policy in Bonn.

Where can I get copies of the U.S. Code and the Code of Federal Regulations to send to Brazil?

Before Pearl Harbor, Japan was alleged to have acquired or renamed an island USA. Japanese exports to the U.S. were marked MADE IN USA. Is there any truth to this rumor?

My professor told us to come to the USITC Research Department to find a blue publication your Agency issues on economics.

February 1986

TABLE OF CONTENTS

The Cover—Carl Flatow imagines a 20th-century version of highway robbery: a remote outpost where electronic pirates steal vital business data out of the skies. Page 14.

DEPARTMENTS

1 Fast Forward
Early Warning on Emerging Trends From the Conference Board. By Randall Poe.

3 Commentary
Gilbert Millstein on microelectronic things that go beep in the night; Timothy M. James on "repotting" the senior worker; Robert A. Cooke, a teacher of business ethics, on can-do and Kant-do in the marketplace.

59 Books
Is a new, better man emerging in the '80s? James Krohe Jr. examines the evidence offered by a recent book, Some American Men. Roger Starr, in a review of Amusing Ourselves to Death, sees Americans' heavy diet of television as a symptom of cultural flabbiness.

64 The Compleat Manager
The Fallen Angel.
By Herbert Hubben.

ARTICLES

6 CEO: The Whole Man. On the Line to Ouagadougou/Irving Goldstein of Comsat Interviewed by David Finn.

14 Telecommunications Crime/By Nathan Weber. Is it happening already—or is it just a future threat? Corporate officials disagree. What is clear is that the merging of technologies, along with the sheer volume of data being carried over the air waves, is creating new opportunities for larceny.

24 Stumped by the Lumber Issue/By Kenneth F. Englade. The Canadians argue that they have captured a larger share of the U.S. softwood market because of their efficiency and our overvalued dollar. American producers cite another reason: subsidies. What's unfair in love and trade between two neighbors?

33 Pop Journalism/By Jake Newman. Jesse Meyers's Beverage Digest is one of the premiere examples of a specialized kind of investigative journalism: the trade newsletter. Lately, Meyers has been breaking stories that are big news outside the industry he covers.

38 American Industry Can Go Home Again /By Susan Walsh Sanderson. Automation is making it feasible to bring back some operations that fled offshore in the 1960s and '70s. Labor costs, however, are only one factor in the complex economics of today's global manufacturing.

44 Adventures in the Insider Trade/By Caryl Conner. On it goes—merger and acquisition, buy-out, buy-back, tender, takeover, divestiture, and rumor, rumor, rumor. All of which can lead to preposterous profits from inside information.

NEW FROM THE IMF...

World Economic Outlook, April 1985

The World Economic Outlook is a comprehensive assessment of the short- to medium-term prospects for the world economy, prepared by the Fund's staff on the basis of the detailed knowledge gathered through regular and special consultations with member countries. It reviews the current recovery in industrial countries and discusses the prospects for a resurgence of output in developing countries. A special analysis presents the staff's scenario for the world economy in the period to 1990.

In addition to its main analysis, the World Economic Outlook includes supplementary notes on a number of special topics, including fiscal and monetary developments, commodity prices, and trends in international capital flows.

Price: Airmail—US$15.00 (US$11.00 to university libraries, faculty members, and students); surface mail—US$12.00 (US$8.00 to university libraries, faculty members, and students).

Editorial page 565

Informatics in International Trade

This article discusses how standardized automated procedures, based on common terminology, can contribute to competitiveness and transparency in the implementation of trade policy measures.

Mitsubishi v. Soler and its Impact on International Commercial Arbitration
—William F. Fox page 579

The impact of the United States Supreme Court's decision, on 2 July 1985, that anti-trust claims growing out of the domestic law of the United States are arbitrable in an international commercial arbitration—and thus effectively foreclosed from further independent review in the domestic courts of the United States—is assessed.

The Effects on Third Countries of Mandated Countertrade—
James I. Walsh page 592

Government mandated countertrade tends to distort world trade and create tensions between those forms participating and those not participating in such arrangements. This article examines the effects on third country markets of countertrade from 1975–1984.

Countertrade and the GATT Legal System
—Frieder Roessler page 604

Countertrade, which is bilateral in nature, violates the spirit if not the letter of GATT laws, i.e., multilateralism. In this article a GATT legal expert indicates the main provisions of the GATT and the codes negotiated under its auspices which might be relevant in a legal analysis of countertrade.

The Convention on Long-range Transboundary Air Pollution—Arne Tollan page 615

Air pollutants do not respect national frontiers. The recent picture of environmental damage shows that escapes from large emission source areas can have effects in neighbouring countries. The case for joint remedial action has been taken up by the U.N. Economic Commission for Europe.

The African Preferential Trade Area—Ngila Mwase page 622

The goal of regional economic integration has been prominent in African affairs for the past two decades. Yet concrete achievements have not been encouraging. This article examines the Eastern and Southern African Preferential Trade Area, its historical evolution, the basic organs of the Treaty and their prospects for attaining the desired goals.

Foreign Private Investors and the Host Country—Robert B. Seidman page 637

A multiplicity of laws relating to the regulation of foreign private investment exists in third world countries. This article aims to provide a framework for assessing the various 'investment codes' from the perspective of a developing country.

Shorter Articles and Notes

UNECE: Highlights in the Transport Sector—M. H. Lehmacher and R. Charcke page 666

This article describes the role of the ECE Inland Transport Committee in the cooperation of region-wide inland transport.

UNCTAD: Code of Conduct on Transfer of Technology—Pedro Roffe page 669

The outcome of the Transfer of Technology conference session held from 13 May to 6 June 1985 is here outlined.

Taiwan's Trade: Problem of Plenty—B. A. Iqbal and S. U. Farooqi page 673

Taiwan's remarkable economic success now confronts it with some challenging choices for the future.

Law of the Sea: Preparatory Commission—Ursula Wassermann page 675

The work of the Preparatory Commission for the International Sea-Bed Authority and the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea, which completed a four-week session in Geneva on September 4, is reviewed in this article.
